REPUBLICAN VOTERS ADDRESSED

By D. W. Clark, in Louisville Last Friday Night in the Interest of his Candidacy for Commissioner of Agriculture.

Good Roads, Better Schools, Scientific and Intensive Farming Were His Principle Themes.

D. W. Clark of Barbourville, was in Louisville last Friday and Saturday, and on Friday night he addressed the Twelfth ward Republican club at Pfeister's Hall, 22nd and Market streets, in the interest of his candidacy for the nomination for Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics.

He called attention to the demoralized condition of the Democratic party and how difficult it seems to be to secure candidates to fill all the places on the State ticket, while the Republicans have numerous candidates for the various offices, which shows that they regard the prospects very favorable.

From statistical figures, he showed that in the Republican counties there is opportunity for a greatly increased vote from the fact that the Republican counties have never voted out their full strength.

After discussing various items of the approaching election he referred to his candidacy, and stated his position before the people, and what he advocates in reference to the office he seeks he spoke as follows:

"I favor the building of better roads, and maintaining same by a system of taxation, together with the convict labor of the State. Instead of having our State convicts employed by large Corporations in the manufacture of shoes, chairs and brooms, in competition to our free labor, let's take these prisoners out on the public roads of the State and there work them in the building of roads.

At the present time the Heag-Montgomery Shoe Company is paying the State only about 37 cents per day for the convict labor they are employing, and at the same time it is costing the State more than that amount to feed and clothe these convicts while they perform the labor that the company is getting the benefit of. The same is true of the other institutions employing convict labor.

Now if instead of permitting these Corporations to get the benefit of the convict labor at the expense of the State, we should take the prisoners out on the public roads and have them build good roads, it would prove a benefit to the people of the State at large instead of only the Corporations for whom they now work. This change would serve a double purpose, that of furnishing good roads throughout the entire State for the benefit of public travel, and at the same time stop the employment of convict labor against free labor in the manufacture of necessary household goods and articles. This of itself, it seems to me, would be sufficient grounds to justify a change, in as much as the entire State would be greatly benefited by the change.

The greatest improvements that can be added to any community and especially to its Agricultural interests are good roads. Nothing adds more to the value of a farming district than the fact that you have good roads to haul your product to market. No matter how productive the land may be and how readily it may respond to the cultivation given it by the farmer, its real and true value will never be reached and realized until good roads are built to the markets and shipping points which put the farms in touch with the markets of the world.

What would it profit a farmer to produce, say 100 tons of hay, on his farm and have no possible way of getting it to market? But if he has a good road from his farm to town he will always find a ready market for every pound of hay he can produce.

By having every county in the State that desires to work convict labor erect, at some convenient point within its border, a stockade or place to safely guard and keep the prisoners, and having competent guards over them, they can be worked successfully on the public highways, instead of doing the work they are now doing in opposition to the free labor of our State. Besides, there is no competition in road building, but every one would rather have some one else do the work, and instead pay a reasonable amount of taxes to maintain guards to keep the convict labor employed. This seems to be the proper solution of the road question.

I want to see a better system of schools established throughout our State for the education of all the children. We are now paying out enormous sums of money annually for education, but under the present system I fear that much of this money is wasted and the innocent childhood is robbed because of conditions we as parents have permitted to exist.

Those who have had the good fortune to reside within the confines of the more favored portions of our State are now enjoying a system of good roads, and the children are enabled to attend the schools without being subjected to the many hardships of those less favorably situated.

I want to see the time come when in Kentucky we will have established within every county seat, and at such other points as are necessary and convenient, well kept, well taught, well regulated, free graded High Schools, where every child who has finished the common school course in his or her district, shall receive from said District School a certificate of graduation, signed by the county Superintendent of Schools and setting forth the facts of said graduation, and upon the presentation of this certificate to the faculty of the High School it will serve as a passport and admit the pupil without holding it to the High School where all the branches taught shall be free, and every pupil shall be entitled to the entire course of study taught there.

I favor the compulsory educational law, and am willing that it be so enforced that every child between the ages of 8 and 14 shall be compelled to attend the public school at least three months out of each year unless prevented by illness. Ignorance is a blight upon the fair name of our State, and I favor the enforcement of the Traut Law in such a manner that it will remove that blight within the next generation.

I favor the free transportation of all pupils to and from High Schools on their homes daily. Some one perhaps will say, "Oh, we can not afford to do that, it would cost too much." We admit that it will cost something, but listen: Everyone who has been in a town or city within our State, having a population of 5,000 or more, have, no doubt, seen what is familiarly spoken of as "Black Maria." Black Maria is a fancy spring wagon, nicely covered, and has seats extending lengthwise on either side and a seat in front for the driver who pulls the reins over a pair of handsome Kentucky horses. A special station is maintained where two or more men are paid to remain constantly, ready to go on a moment's notice with this handsome span and fancy wagon, to gather up some poor old whiskey soaked man who has lost all respect for himself and for the race to which he belongs, and who has tarried too long and emblied too freely, until finally when he had decided to return home his limbs became limp and refused to convey his body, and he then discovered for the first time that this world is actually revolving, and he is just about to fall off, so he grabs to a lamp post and hangs on until the Black Maria arrives and he is placed on the inside and conveyed to the city prison where he is allowed to sober up once more.

D. W. CLARK, of Barbourville, Ky.
Who is Seeking the Republican Nomination for Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics.

Public opinion tells us that this is right and necessary to give this protection to mankind, but my Kentucky friends, if it is right, and necessary to maintain these things for the purpose they are used, would it not be much more important to the young manhood and womanhood of Kentucky for us to provide transportation for our school children, and when they have completed the common school course and are enrolled in the High Schools to which I referred a moment ago, then to have suitable carriages and drivers provided that will deliver the young people to these institutions of learning every day free of cost to the pupils? Is there a man in this grand old Commonwealth of Kentucky but what will join with us in helping to bring about these improved conditions?

We realize that these conditions can not be established and placed in effect all at once, but we can begin now to work to that end, and the first thing to do is to build good roads so that we could convey the pupils from the outlying districts to the center. We must also build halls for study and recitation, where can be administered the work of the Graded High Schools.

I favor the equipment of these High Schools with lands and equipment necessary for the successful teaching of Agriculture in connection with the other school work. The time is now here when any one, to make a successful farmer must thoroughly understand his business as much so as in any other profession. The time once was in Kentucky when all the educated boys were ministers, lawyers, doctors or editors, while those who received no education plodded along on the farm. But times have changed and experience has taught that the educated farmer, like the educated man in every other profession, is the most successful one. Then let us educate our farmer boys and teach them farming in a scientific manner.

I favor a thorough inspection of all farm seeds. It has often occurred that the farmer has paid out his good money for farm seeds and received instead of pure seeds, seeds that were impure, seeds that were polluted with weed seeds and in many instances almost entirely weed seeds which injured the soil, rather than benefited it, as was the intention of the farmer. If every dealer in seeds was made to feel the personal responsibility of distributing impure seeds and severely punished for the violation of the seed laws it would soon check the distribution of impure seeds.

I favor the careful protection of child labor in our factories and work shops of various kinds. I believe that it is the duty of our State to look well into this matter and see that the children are not permitted to work where their lives might be endangered by machinery without the dangerous parts of the machinery being properly guarded to shield and protect not only the children, but all employees as well, from danger.

It should also be carefully observed that children under the age specified by our State laws should not be permitted to enter these work shops and factories to perform manual labor.

Under the department of the Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics, State Labor Inspectors visit the various factories where labor is employed, and investigate and report all cases of this kind, and I feel quite sure that these men have done, and are now doing all that is within their power, but I want to suggest that there should be added to this department at least one competent Lady Inspector, whose duty it would be to visit the various factories of our State that employ large forces of female labor, and diligently inquire into the conditions and also ascertain if in any instance women or girls are forced to yield their virtue in order to hold their position. These and many other matters could be much more fully and readily investigated by a Lady Inspector than by a gentleman. We never this addition to the force that we may better safeguard the virtue of our female sex and relieve them from the embarrassment of having to make these reports to male inspectors.

I favor the settlement of strikes and labor troubles, as far as it is possible, by arbitration. There are many instances in which both the employer and the employee are misinformed as to the motives or merits of the other, and their troubles and differences might readily be settled fairly and without any injustice having been done to either party by the simple plan of calling to their relief a board of arbitration. Let the employer select one man and the employee select one, and if these fail to agree, let them select the third man, and when they have made an agreement, let all parties stand by it. This would save many an expensive law suit, and in the end would prove better for all parties concerned.

But some one may say: your ideas are all right, and we can readily understand how you can, by being in direct touch with the Labor Inspectors, bring about the results mentioned, but how do you expect to effect in any way the School System of our State? And how do you expect to assist in any way the road building of the State? That office pertains to Agriculture, Labor and Statistics."

That is true. But under this Department all of the Farmers' Institutes are held. Lecturers are sent out from this Department under the direct supervision of the Commissioner of Agriculture to every county in the State every year to lecture upon such subjects as will enlighten, appeal to and advance the citizens and arouse interest along proper lines. I propose, if elected to the office of Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics, to put forth my most earnest efforts upon these very subjects. I shall have capable, competent, earnest men to present these subjects so forcefully that the people will become aroused and public opinion created in their favor. When this is done and the people of the State rise up and demand these improved conditions, then we can have them and will get them. The people generally get what they want.

Now a word concerning Agriculture. I am not a city-bred agriculturist, but a Kentucky farmer. I was reared on the farm and have walked between the plow-handles from early morn till setting sun many and many a day. There is no branch of farming that I have not followed, from the clearing and fencing of the land to the plowing, planting and cultivating of the various crops, and the harvesting of same. I have been through it all; I know what the farmer needs, and I believe that I can be a benefit to him if permitted to do so.

Have you realized what a change has taken place in Kentucky within the past fifteen years? Fifteen years ago 65 per cent. of the citizenship of our State was on the farm and 35 per cent. in the towns and cities of our Commonwealth. Today the conditions are exactly reversed. Today 65 per cent. of our citizenship is living in the towns and cities, struggling by days work to support their families as laborers in mills, factories and public works, while only 35 per cent. remain on the farm to produce the necessary food stuffs for us all.

Why should such a state of affairs exist in Kentucky, this grand old Commonwealth, the garden spot of the universe? And yet it is true.

Within the observations that have come under my own personal notice

I will call your attention here to just one, and I dare say that you can recall in your own mind many instances of a similar kind.

About the year 1890, there was a splendid blue grass farm on which lived a farmer, surrounded by his family, and raising his regular crops, stocks, etc., and was enjoying life in a measure, but soon after that date, when he began to reap the results of the Cleveland administration, when prices began to go down and nothing the farmer had to sell seemed to be worth anything, this farmer concluded that he could do better in town than he could on his farm, so he sold his farm to a stock dealer and breeder and moved his family to town. His neighbor, laboring under the same misfortune, did likewise, and before we hardly realize what has happened the stock breeder owns thousands of acres of these farm lands which he proceeds to divide into paddocks and into these paddocks he turns the thoroughbreds with their suckling colts by their side. They enjoy the rich blue grass and the fragrance as it is wafted from tree and flower, while the children that God has given to bless our homes, are crowded into narrow, dingy streets and stowed away in rickety tenement houses, with tired mothers who never know what it is to enjoy again a day free from toil and worry, while the Kentucky thoroughbred is enjoying the luxuries that God had intended for his children.

Now my fellow Countrymen, I want to arouse more interest in a movement of "Back to the Farm."

I favor Scientific and Intensive farming. It is not necessary that a man own 100 or 200 acres of land in order that he may be able to support his family on the farm. If we could not make a living on a less acreage than that there would then be no remedy for the present conditions, but experience has taught that such is not the case, and we believe that the better plan would be to get the best there is out of a small acreage. Now in order to accomplish that, I favor the establishment in both the Eastern and in the Western part of our State, experiment stations, where our farmers can take the soil of their farms and there have it analyzed so that they may know exactly what their lands are suited to produce. We now have an experiment station located at Lexington and with two more located, one in the Eastern and one in the Western part of the State, the farmers could, without much trouble or expense, have their soil tested and analyzed. Then with the bulletins issued from the office of the Commissioner of Agriculture monthly, setting forth just what ingredients were required to produce the best results in certain crops, which would be distributed throughout the State by the Press, every farmer would be at once in position to know just what to plant in order to obtain the best results from his farm, but if the analysis of the soil of his farm showed that he could not raise the kind of crops desired without the aid of fertilizers, he would know just what to get to supply the deficiency in his soil.

That would be scientific farming, and this practice would naturally lead to intensive farming. When we learn to make a living in Kentucky on ten acres of land instead of having to farm 100 acres to make it, we will then be ready to sell the remaining 90 acres to nine other good neighbors, and the large farms will then soon be split into small ones and there will then be dotted here and there happy homes inhabited with the families who have deserted the over-crowded cities and have come out to enjoy the pure, free air, where the little ones can live and enjoy the great-out-of-doors and bask in the smiles of God's glorious sunshine. Then life will be happier, the birds sing sweeter, and the children and childhood faces grow brighter in Kentucky.

My friends, I know of no better avenue through which these things can be brought to us than through the office of the Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics, and I feel that if exalted to that honorable position, I shall be enabled to work out for you many of these problems and during my incumbency in office I may at least succeed in laying the ground work on which my successor may erect the great structure which I have outlined to you. If I succeed in this I shall feel that I have done a noble work, and that I have at least been of some advantage to my fellow man.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics

We take this method of announcing our candidacy for the office of Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics, subject to the action of the Republican State Convention to be held at Louisville July 11, 1911.

D. W. CLARK.

POWERS AND THE APPORTIONMENT BILL.

That the speech of Hon. Caleb Powers on the Apportionment bill, made a profound impression on the members of the House of Representatives, there is no room for doubt.

Congressman Frank B. Willis, of Ohio, made a speech a few days ago urging that the Territory of New Mexico (Republican) be admitted into the Union as a state. The Democrats were objecting on the ground that the Congressional districts, as proposed, had been gerrymandered by the Republicans.

The following question put to Mr. Willis by Mr. Powers (as shown by the Congressional Record) and Mr. Willis' answer thereto not only shows that Mr. Powers' speech on the Apportionment bill was a fine political stroke for the Republican party of Kentucky, and one appreciated by, and calculated to help the Republican party of the Nation.

Mr. POWERS. I want to ask the gentleman if there is any Democratic congressional district in that State as now apportioned by the new constitution, or otherwise, which will contain twice as large a population as any Republican district, following the principle as laid down in Kentucky, where one Republican district contains more population than two Democratic districts?

Mr. WILLIS. I will say to the gentleman that not only is that not so, but the districts are almost exactly equal in population. There will not be in the State of New Mexico any such outrage as was shown by the gentleman from Kentucky here on the floor of this House a few days ago in the apportionment of districts and counties in his State, and when the gentleman from Kentucky offered an amendment to provide that there should not be more than 75,000 difference in the districts, gentlemen on that side—

The CHAIRMAN. The time of the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. Willis] has expired.

Mr. LANGHAM. Mr. Chairman, I yield 15 minutes additional to the gentleman.

Mr. WILLIS. What I started to say, Mr. Chairman, was that under this constitution as it stand there can not be any such outrage as the gentleman called attention to when he offered the amendment to provide that these congressional districts should not have a difference of more than 75,000 in population, and gentlemen on that side voted the amendment down. And then he offered one at 50,000 and one at 20,000, and those were voted down by gentlemen that are the very personification of fairness and are objecting to the constitution as unfair. [Applause on the Republican side.]

G. J. Jarvis, editor of the Clay County Clarion, has announced as a candidate for the Republican nomination for County Judge. The primary is to be held on September 11th.

CATRON OUSTED

Postmaster of Somerset to be Succeeded by Nephew of Senator Bradley--Danville Man Next?

(Special to the Cincinnati Enquirer) WASHINGTON, June 12.—The President today ousted from office Postmaster Catron of Somerset, Ky., and appointed in his place Thos. M. Scott, a nephew of Senator Bradley of Kentucky. The change is regarded as important as showing the complete domination of the Bradley-Langley-Powers faction in Kentucky Republican politics and the elimination of former Congressman Edwards of the Eleventh district as a figure in the States patronage distribution. The appointment is thought to foreshadow the removal of Internal Revenue Collector J. Sherman Cooper of the Danville (Ky.) district, as soon as the Senators and House members can agree on his successor after the Republican State convention is held.

Judge O'Rear to Speak Here Saturday the 17th

Judge E. C. O'Rear, candidate for the nomination for Governor, will address the voters of Knox county at the Court house in Barbourville, Saturday, June the 17th at 1 p. m., in the interest of his candidacy.

Come out and hear him. He is an able speaker and will have something to tell you that will interest you. The ladies are especially invited.

A Different Case.

He stopped in front of a grocery to look at some berries, and, after he had heard the grocer saying to a customer that the railroads had no legal or moral right to raise rates, he butted in with:

"But the same rule should apply to you. You raise prices without consulting any law, don't you?"

"But it's different, sir—far different."

"I don't see how. When I was along here the other day you had blackberries marked at 12 cents. Today they are marked at 14 cents. By what legal or moral right did you mark them up?"

"I will tell you, sir. Yesterday I contributed 50 cents in cash to the heathen. This morning I got fifty boxes of berries from the market. I put two cents a quart extra on the price, so that if the heathen came around I could get my money back."

"But you get back double what you contributed."

"Oh, the other 50 cents is my reward for being good-hearted. You see, when you come to figure it out it's nothing at all like the railroad cases."

Sunday Services in Chapel.

Sunday School services and church services of the Baptist church will be held in the Auditorium of the Institute next Sunday on account of the church undergoing repairs.

Taken Suddenly Ill

Little Jessie Lynn Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baker, of Pineville, formerly of this city, was taken suddenly ill last Friday and for a while her life was despaired of, but by heroic treatment she was relieved and at this writing is somewhat improved and her friends now hope for her recovery.

Resigned Pastorate

Rev. Eber H. Mullins has resigned the pastorate of the Christian church of this city to take effect within the next two weeks. He will locate in the Western part of the State.

REID—LAWRENCE.

Rev. I. E. Reid, formerly of this city, was married Wednesday in Lexington to Miss Margaret Lawrence, who was a teacher in the Middlesboro High School during the past year.

For Commissioner

of Agriculture.

SENATOR G. T. WYATT

Of Olmstead, Logan County.

Third Congressional District

Senator Wyatt is making the race for the Democratic nomination for Commissioner of Agriculture before the Democrats of the State in the primary July 1st. He is a successful farmer and comes from one of the best farming sections of Western Kentucky.

His record in the State Senate has been highly creditable and particularly notable for his work in behalf of Legislation for the farmer.

The Bosworth-Wyatt Good Road Amendment to the Constitution is a part of Kentucky's history. Senator Wyatt was chairman of the Good Roads Congress held at Louisville last December, and has been actively engaged in this work for several years, believing with all others that the farmers are the first to be benefitted. He is also a stern advocate of educating the farmer along the lines of his occupation toward the intensive and co-operative farming.

Since there has never been a Commissioner of Agriculture elected from Western Kentucky, which is notably the farming section of the State as well as strongly Democratic, it is fair that this nomination be given to a Western Kentucky man. [It.]

MANY RATTLE SNAKES.

A Special from Barbourville, of June 9th, to the Lexington Leader, says: "Panned in a tunnel excavation by a mass of rattlesnakes dislodged from the top, six men had a fight with the reptiles for over an hour in the darkness before making the entrance, at a railroad camp of the Washtoto extension."

"The men had just put in a charge of blasting powder to dislodge a boulder from the top, when the writhing mass of snakes came tumbling down."

"With nothing to guide them in the darkness but the warning rattle of the angry reptiles, the men succeeded in killing nine snakes and getting to the entrance without being bitten."

PERSONAL and LOCAL MENTIONINGS

Miss Virginia Williams is in Flat Lick this week.

Miss Dona Price is visiting friends in Virginia this week.

Mr. Powers made a business trip to Williamsburg the first of the week.

Mrs. Perry Cole visited relatives at Straight Creek the first of the week.

Mrs. T. B. Ashley and son Harold spent Sunday the guests of friends at Warren.

Miss Ethel Owens left Wednesday for an extended trip to relatives in Cincinnati.

"Chick" Decker came in from Jackson Sunday to spend a few days with home folks.

Prof. John W. Hughes left Monday for Richmond to attend the summer session of that school.

Mrs. Henry L. Fitman, of Wasisto, is visiting relatives and friends in this city this week.

W. W. Tinsley made a business trip to Louisville and Frankfort the latter part of last week.

Judge L. L. Manson, of Covington, is spending a few days as the guest of John B. Gates and family in this city.

Miss Laura Hays is holding a position as postal clerk in the post office here under Mrs. Green, the new postmistress.

A. W. Soward has again severed his connection with this office and has accepted a position with the Peoples News.

The Baptist church of this city is being papered and repaired and when completed, it will have added very much to the appearance.

Jess Gregory, of Williamsburg, was here last Saturday attending a meeting of the stockholders of the Camp Ground Telephone Company.

Judge James D. Black returned the first of the week from a trip to Cincinnati and Louisville, stopping off a few days at Crab Orchard.

Miss May Harrop left Monday for a visit to friends in Covington, and will visit also in Maysville and Catlettsburg before returning home.

LOST—Last Saturday afternoon on High Street, a gold locket and chain. Finder will kindly return to Henry C. Black and receive reward.

Ed Hurst, of Middlesboro, joined his family, who are visiting Mrs. Hurst's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Matthews, here the latter part of last week.

"Old Folks Day" will be observed at the Baptist church the fourth Sunday in this month. All old folks of the church and community are cordially invited.

D. W. Clark returned Sunday afternoon from Louisville, where he spent several days last week in the interest of his candidacy for the nomination for Commissioner of Agriculture.

Misses Idella and Nancy Kinche-loc, who have been spending several weeks here the guests of Miss Hattie Stansbury, returned to their home in Hardinsburg last Saturday night.

Congressman Caleb Powers was called home last Saturday morning by the serious illness of his mother. It was thought for some time that she could not survive but she rallied and is slowly improving at this writing.

Alex Stansbury, of Knox Fork, was in town last Friday and told us that he had been considerably crippled up by coming in contact with a pile of cross ties. He said he felt a little tough over the collision, but was still in the ring.

Mr. W. M. Baker received the sad news the latter part of last week of the death of his sister Mary, which occurred in Cincinnati last week. She was the one who visited his family here early this Spring for some days while on her way to Cincinnati where she later entered a hospital and remained there until the end.

W. M. Jones is confined to his bed, suffering with a severe attack of typhoid fever.

Miss Myrtle Boston, of Flat Lick, was the guest of Miss Allien Matthews Sunday.

Grand 4th of July celebration and fair at Corbin, two days—Tuesday and Wednesday. A list of premiums larger and bigger than ever will be given away. Make arrangements to go; everybody else will be there. Excursion rates on all lines.

Harrison Large, who was assistant in the laboratory of Union College last year, left Tuesday night for Remington, Ind., where he will have charge of a similar department in the city schools of that place. Prof. L. G. Wesley, a former instructor in Mathematics at Union College, is at the head of the City Schools in Remington.

A slight blaze in the kitchen of Uncle Tony Doodney's house last Sunday afternoon caused considerable excitement in that end of town and but for the prompt action of his neighbors his house would probably have been destroyed as it was so far from the hose and reel station. As it was the loss was very small, only the wall paper being burned. Again we seen the necessity of establishing fire stations in each end of our city so as to insure a better protection for the residents who live so far away from the present station.

Hunters' Notice

Hunters and all persons are hereby notified that the under-signed have their lands posted according to law and all trespassers will be prosecuted for willful trespass.
Henry Elliott, Shelton Elliott.
Other names will be added to this list at 25 cents each.

New Concrete Walks

The Property Committee of Union College are putting down concrete sidewalks leading from the street to the ladies' Dormitory and also from the street to the men's Dormitory and leading from each of these buildings to the Administration building which will make this one of the most complete of any campus in this end of the State.

It is also proposed to erect an overhead covering leading from the girls' dormitory to the Administration building so that the students will be protected from both sun and rain while going to meals or recitation.

This college has already an envious reputation as an institution of learning, and there is no other school to be found anywhere that offers such an opportunity to those of moderate means to secure an education. The rates for board here are the best that can be found in all the country.

Commercial Club Meeting

The re-organized Commercial Club met last Monday night at the Court house to hear the report of the Committees that were appointed the week previous.

There was an increased attendance which showed that the committee on membership had been busy during the week. The committee on by-laws and organization asked for and was granted further time in which to complete their work.

It was suggested that additional Vice-Presidents be added to the list to represent the various towns and villages of the county and that they be permitted to solicit membership in our Commercial Club and that we unite in making a better and bigger Barbourville by making a better and more thrifty and productive county.

All of Knox county is interested in the upbuilding of Barbourville and Barbourville is interested in the upbuilding of all of Knox county, so that there should be no excuse for not uniting upon this movement to improve our town and county.

Not Simply a Car—but Car Service

Now is the time of year when you're beginning to think of the car you intend buying. Remember, when you buy, that the absolute limit of dollar for dollar return is reached in cars selling under $2,000. When you pay more, your returns are not in proportion to your investment. When you buy, buy not simply a car—but car service. Buy correct design, accurate construction and good materials. Buy sound motor car value. In the MARATHON you get all this. But don't accept our mere statement. For we can convince you of its truth. We have a catalogue which describes in detail, the wealth of mechanical excellence, finish and dependable utility that characterize the MARATHON. And it's yours for the asking. Won't you ask for it?

MARATHON models include Torpedo Touring Car, Fore Door Touring Car, Standard Touring Car and Roadster, and Torpedo Roadster. Prices from $1,500 to $1,700.

Mammoth Cave Closed

For a day or two last week Kentucky's great natural wonder, the Mammoth Cave, was closed on account of a strike of all the guides employed by the management. Matters were speedily readjusted, however, and within 48 hours the faithful guides were at their posts and ready for duty. This is said to have been the first time that the cave has been closed to the public since 1808, a period of 103 years. Thirty years ago this wonderful exhibition of the handiwork of nature was better advertised than it is today, though it still surpasses in beauty, size and grandeur all the caves that have yet been explored. Some day, after the death of the last of the 11 nephews and nieces of Dr. John Croghan, who bequeathed the property to them at his death, many years ago, the property will be sold and the proceeds therefrom will be divided among the heirs of the eleven. A few years ago there were but three of the eleven beneficiaries of Dr. Croghan's bequest alive. Should the cave fall into the hands of a modern American citizen with sufficient capital to advertise it and restore it to its pristine glory as one of the eight wonders of the world, it would easily become an all-the-year resort, with golf links, fishing and boating and hunting, the year round. It is a lamentable fact that today a large percentage of the people who visit the cave are Europeans who visit America and have the "Mammoth Cave of Kentucky" marked on their itinerary before they leave their homes. But the main fault lies with the failure of the owners and managers to spend a single dollar in the form of advertising during the past quarter of a century. Had the great falls of Niagara been obscured from the view of the world for 48 hours, or been held up by a strike, the fact would have been known in every city of any size in the world, and even in the smaller cities, villages and hamlets where newspapers are published and read. But for the news of the cave's strike, we had to await the arrival of The Glasgow Times, edited by James M. Richardson, within 19 miles of the earth's great cavern. A number of Amsterdamians have visited the Mammoth Cave on their trips to the South, but of recent years few have stopped on their journeys southward from Cincinnati and Louisville to see this marvelous silent testimonial to the puissance of the Ruler of the universe.

Court House and Jail Burned

Hazard, the county seat of Perry county, was visited by another disastrous fire Thursday morning of last week, when the court house, county jail and the jailer's residence, all the buildings on the public square were burned. The county records were all saved. The loss is estimated at $6,000 with no insurance.

Good News

"I write to tell you the good news that Cardui has helped me so much and I think it is just worth its weight in gold," writes Mrs. Maryan Marshall, of Woodstock, Ga. ### COMMISSIONER'S SALE

KNOX CIRCUIT COURT.

J. R. Foley, Admr., Plff. vs. Levi Foley & Co., Def'ts.

By virtue of a judgment rendered in the Knox Circuit Court at its April term, 1911, in the above styled case, the undersigned Master Commissioner will, on Monday, June 26, 1911, it being County Court day, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 3 o'clock p. m., at the front door of the Court house in Barbourville, Ky., sell, on a credit of six months, the following described property, to raise the sum of $639.12 and cost, $17.50. Said lands lie on the waters of Indian Creek in Knox county, Ky., and are bounded as follows:

Tract No. 1 is bounded as follows: "Beginning at a hickory and sourwood on a line of Peter Engle survey; thence with a dividing line between Luke and Levi Foley, s 82 e 38 to a water oak; thence s 62 e 16 poles to a white oak; thence s 69 e 51 poles to a black oak and hickory; thence n 5 e 120 poles to a post oak on top of a ridge; thence with a dividing line between Luke and Joseph Foley n 82 e 82 poles to a chestnut; thence s 44 e 12 poles to an apple on the bank of the Peter Branch; thence n 75 w 13 poles to an apple tree; thence n 2 w 7 poles to a red-bud; thence s 7 w 66 poles to three small chestnuts; thence s 9 e 54 poles to a black oak; thence s 47 e 42 poles to a black gum; thence s 20 e 36 poles to a hickory; thence to the beginning."

Tract No. 2 is bounded as follows: "Beginning at a white oak and two hickories standing on the north side of a hill; thence n 59 e 142 poles to white oak and hickory on the reserve line; thence s 45 e 80 poles to a stake; thence s 59 w 142 poles to a stake; thence n 45 w 80 poles to the beginning. Registered May 23, 1846."

Tract No. 3 is bounded as follows: "Beginning at a spanish oak stump and poplar. — Helton's corner; thence s 57."

Tract No. 4 is bounded as follows: "Beginning at birch and white oak on the line; thence s 25 w 50 poles to two chestnut oaks on the top of the ridge; thence s 40 w 62 poles to a small red oak; thence s 67 w 38 to a black oak and ash; thence n 44 w 40 poles to two black oaks; thence n 53 w 16 poles to a black gum and black oak, corner to a survey made for Hiram Campbell; thence n 26 poles to a white oak, Parson's corner; thence with said Parson's line to the beginning."

The above land will be sold on a credit of six months, to the highest bidder, the purchaser will be required to give bond with approved security, bearing interest from the date of sale and having the force and effect of a judgement, with a lien retained upon said land until paid in full.

Given under my hand this June 6th, 1911.

J. R. JONES, Commissioner Knox Circuit Court.

NEW MAGIC OF BUSINESS

Senator Aldrich Illustrates "Scientific Management" With Story of Lecture on Shakespeare.

Senator Aldrich was talking about "scientific management"—the new magic that is supposed to double the output of the bricklayer, the shoveler, the hod carrier and so forth.

"The bricklayer's motions," he said, "are reduced from 18 to 5 in the laying of each brick by scientific management, and the man can now lay 350 bricks an hour, whereas in England they only lay 375 bricks a day. Wonderful!

"It's as wonderful, in fact, as the Shakespeare story. A Lenton lecturer, you know, happened to say that Shakespeare died on the day of his birth. This caused an auditor to exclaim:

"Shakespeare must have understood scientific management, then! A genius that could turn out Othello and Hamlet and all the rest of it in an ephemeral 24 hours certainly must have had scientific management down pat!"

ANOTHER COOING PLACE

John—Say, Silas, what on earth are yer buildin' another porch on th' side of the house fer?

Silas—'Cause that one is right under my window, an' I'm tired er listenin' ter Sal an' her beau talkin' love every night.

FOR THE SIMPLE LIFE.

There is an association in English society known as the Simple-lifers (not Simple-livers, if you please, for that sounds too much like a butcher's shop), which includes the duchess of Rutland, the Marchioness of Downshire, the Countess Kinnoull and the Countess of Warwick, H. B. Irving and Miss Dorothea Baird. The society will shortly give an exhibition. Among the exhibits listed are boots of vegetable material that are said to last three times as long as those made from leather, and vegetable furs, said to be as warm and beautiful as those obtained from slaughtering animals.

NO CHANCE FOR HER.

Judging by the conversation of two girls on an elevated train almost everybody has some kind of a past that can be dug up.

"She wanted the worst way to play on our team," said the black-eyed girl, "but before accepting her we looked up her record in the school she attended before she came to us and we found that she lost about 15 pounds worrying over every examination that came along, and of course we couldn't afford to bother with a girl that fell off in weight like that."

JEWELRY POINTER.

A clerk in a New York jewelry store was being instructed by his new employer. "When a man comes in to buy a wedding ring always ask him if an engagement ring will be worn with it and what carat it is. The two should be the same. If the engagement ring is 18 carats, say, and the wedding ring is 14, as they rub together the softer ring will show the wear, and usually just under the stone, which becomes loosened. We have had to reset hundreds of diamonds for this very reason."

OF COURSE NOT.

"John, have you been disturbing the music? I cannot find 'The Lost Chord.'"

"Of course not. If you could it wouldn't be the lost chord."

MY PLATFORM

- Favor building better roads and maintaining same by a system of taxation together with convict labor.

This Mop Wringer is the only machine ever invented that will wring and clean a mop thoroughly. It not only takes out the dirt and leaves the mop clean, but it wrings it so dry that there is hardly any moisture left in the mop. The floor is never left streaked, as you are always using a clean mop. The machine is very simple to operate and requires no skill, as anybody can use it, man, woman or child. It is a labor saver, as one person will do the work quicker and better than three with any other device known. The mop sets on the platform and is not attached to the machine and can be moved at any time. It is always ready for use and there are no parts to get out of order. A trial of our machine will convince you that its work is perfect. We have yet to find a dissatisfied customer.

Who Was There That You Knew?

IN the shadowy ranks of those who marched to defeat or death or victory fifty years ago in the mighty conflict that convulsed this great nation, is there father or grandfather or uncle of yours? Would you like to see a photograph of him in that long ago day of his youth—a photograph that he never knew was taken? Perhaps we can show you one; and in any case, we can tell you a story, stranger than any detective fiction, of 3,500 priceless photographs that were lost and are found again.

3,500 Long Buried Photographs of the Civil War

THEY were taken by the greatest photographer in the United States of that day; they were bought by the United States Government for $30,000; they were buried in the War Department for 50 years—they are buried there still. But a duplicate set was kept by the photographer—who died poor and broken down; that duplicate set was knocked from pillar to post for nearly 50 years, until it was discovered by a New England collector. J. Pierpont Morgan tried to secure the collection—Ex-President Garfield and General Benjamin F. Butler said it was worth $150,000—yet with the help of the Review of Reviews, the entire collection has been gathered into 19 great volumes and is placed within your reach at less than the value of one of the photographs. It is the one accurate, impartial history of the Civil War—for the camera cannot lie. It tells the story of the War you never heard before. Taken under protection of the Secret Service, these photographs bring to light thousands of little-known phases of the war: they penetrate to strange places and record strange things.
